

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

A FREE, exciting science enrichment program for grades 6-9 that aligns with your state standards

Energy is needlessly wasted in our homes and communities on a daily basis. In today's ever-changing world, those tasked with conserving our planet's resources are members of an elite squad: The E-Team. This educational comedy is designed to engage middle school students in green living and saving energy. Two professional actors perform a series of interactive sketches focused on important lessons about resources and conservation. Taking suggestions from the audience, the actors engage students to help create the show they see, forming a customized performance with each presentation.

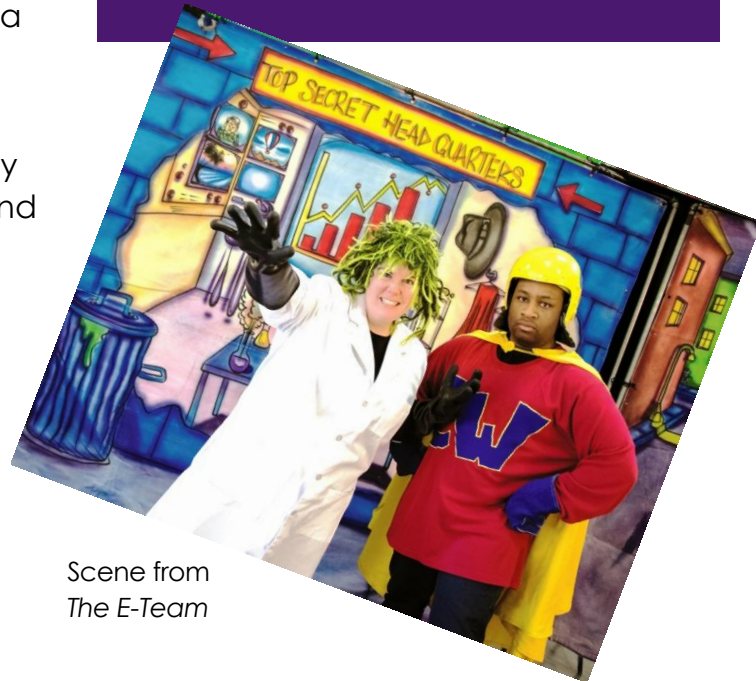

Along with the 40-minute in-school performance, digital classroom materials are provided and energy efficiency kits are available for the homes of staff and students.

Digital Classroom Materials

Educational Concepts

- How to measure energy use
- How energy is wasted
- How to conserve energy
- What renewable resources are

Scene from
The E-Team